

AN AGED PHYSICIAN ENGLAND HARD UP

After Years of Experience Gave the Following Advice.

"If you have anything to do with medicines at all be pretty sure you know what you are taking."

Our local druggist, Mr. Brock, of the Brock & McComas Co., says this is a strong point in favor of their valuable cod liver oil preparation, Vinol. It is not a patent medicine, and everything it contains is plainly printed on the bottle.

Vinol contains in a highly concentrated form all of the medicinal elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cod's livers, but without a drop of oil or grease to nauseate and upset the stomach. This is the reason that Vinol accomplishes such wonderful results in curing chronic coughs, colds, bronchial and lung troubles, and there is nothing known to medicine that will so quickly build up the run down, overworked, tired and debilitated, or give strength and renewed vitality to the aged, as Vinol.

Mrs. Martha Fraser of Portland, Me., writes: "I was all run down from overwork and had a chronic cough for years. I had tried so many remedies without help that I had lost all faith in medicine and was discouraged. My daughter bought me a bottle of Vinol. It simply worked wonders for me; it cured my cough and brought back health and strength, and I am better than I have been for years. I cannot say enough in praise of this wonderful cod liver oil preparation."

We can only ask every one in Pendleton who needs such a medicine to try Vinol on our guarantee to return their money if they don't think it did them any good—that is fair, is it not?—you can't lose on such a proposition. Brock & McComas Co., druggists.

Osteopathy

Osteopathy is a system of treating diseases by perfectly adjusting all parts of the body, thus giving the blood and nerve supply their natural liberty to carry on life.

It assumes, as a working basis, that God, in constructing the human body, was a workman capable of making a machine that will work, and until worn out will continue to work so long as all parts are kept in perfect order; and that when it fails to work some part is out of order.

This common sense you apply to your harvester, sewing machine and watch. Why not apply it to your body? Your harvester, sewing machine or watch will not run with parts bent or displaced. Why, any more, should your body work properly with a rib or vertebrae displaced; a muscle or ligament contracted or thickened? Is it not evident how the blood and nerve supply, the two agents on which every cell of the body depends for its life and activity, may be deranged? The cells not working properly, what of the organs composed of the cells? Do you realize why gallons of medicine have failed to cure you? A little thinking here, with a little common sense will change your idea of disease and its cure.

The Osteopaths, with two years of hardest study, with one year of apprenticeship, is sent out as the skilled machinist to detect and restore the misplaced structures. When, if the working basis, God's ability to construct a capable machine, be true, the body will be in working order. Contemplate.

WANTED—ADVERTISERS TO MAKE use of these classified columns. If you have something you have no use for, offer to trade it for something that some other body may have and have no use for, something that you may need in your business. You may have an extra horse that you may wish to trade for a cow or a vehicle. Somebody may have the cow and vehicle and want the horse. The or the want ad will probably do the business.

SHOWN IN THE SMALLER HOLIDAY TRANSACTIONS.

Only Royalty and the Very Rich Have as Much Money to Spend as Usual—The Stringency of the Times Affects Every Line of Legitimate Holiday Business and Also the Amount of Railroad Travel.

London, Dec. 5.—London shopkeepers are anything but hopeful over the outlook for the holiday trade this year. The general depression throughout the country is regarded as the worst in many years. Not since the great dock strikes has the metropolis seen so many unemployed workmen. The effect of the bad times extends to the humblest ranks of industry. The prospects for the winter are particularly bad in the building world, and the riverside and shipping business.

Under normal conditions the West End shops would not be filling with Christmas buyers. But the real holiday rush has failed to materialize as yet and the shopkeepers view the conditions with a pessimistic eye. The railways likewise anticipate a great falling off in holiday travel this year.

Only in the topmost ranks of society it is expected that Christmas this year will be observed without any curtailment in the exchange of gifts and the usual feasting and entertainment. The king and queen of Portugal bought a number of Christmas presents while they were in London, chiefly diamond studded bonbonnières, flat pencil cases studded all over with precious stones, and cigarette holders made of delicately tinted transparent stones, sometimes studded with diamonds or encrusted with tiny emeralds or rubies.

The queen's orders to submit selections for her approval have already been received by a number of royal warrant holders. The instructions to the shopkeepers lay down the class of goods that her majesty wishes to be sent, but ample latitude is allowed in this matter. Mention is made of the day when they should reach Buckingham palace, and meantime the shopkeeper selects his choicest wares.

In charge of some responsible members of the firm these are duly taken to the palace, where rooms are assigned for their display. As many tables as are needed are available to set them out in their most attractive array, and every item is labelled with the name of the shop that is sending it, as well as the price, which must not be a "fancy" one, but the ordinary selling retail price.

Jewelry and silver work always figure largely in the collections placed before the queen. In occasional instances, very rich and costly ornaments are chosen, but more generally her majesty looks for faithful grace of design and dainty novelty. Photographic frames of the most dainty and delicate description are favorite gifts of the queen. Brooches for lace, charming little pendants and fascinating bangles are other favorite forms, in diamonds, pearls and other stones. A large number of pins and links, too, are invariably kept by the queen, whose aim is always to give what will afford a real and lasting pleasure to its recipient.

In sending to Denmark or other courts, the queen usually chooses what is characteristically English, while to her English friends a very favorite form of present with her majesty is that of pottery from the royal works at Copenhagen. In the selection of gifts she is also a marked patron of the several societies formed for the encouragement of home industries, including those of Scotland and Ireland.

Your Voice by Mail.

Vienna, Dec. 5.—A novel penny-in-the-slot machine has just been patented here. It enables the operator to obtain a record of his voice on a thin gramophone disc, which may be fixed on a card and forwarded as a postcard. The postal handling of the card will not, it is claimed, injure the disc, which is made of a newly invented tough substance. In connection with this a small and cheap phonograph has been placed on the market, which will enable the receiver of the disc postcard to reproduce the voice and words of the sender.
